Microphlebectomy

The surgical removal of the veins through small incisions may be performed in a hospital or office setting. Microphlebectomy is often combined with laser ablation or vein stripping. The initial consult, ultrasound and the surgery are usually covered by insurance.

Vein Stripping

This is an out-patient, hospital-based surgical procedure to remove the affected veins. The initial consult, ultrasound and the surgery are usually covered by insurance. Although most patients prefer endovenous laser ablation because it is minimally invasive, vein stripping remains an important option for treating some patients. Your physician will discuss the most appropriate form of treatment with you.

Spider Vein Treatment (Sclerotherapy)

A liquid or foam solution is injected into spider or larger varicose veins. The purpose of treatment is for cosmetic appearance and to relieve symptoms of vein disease. Multiple sessions may be necessary to achieve optimal results.
